Because our class meets just once a week, I will do my best to give you written feedback on your work within a week of receiving assignments. I will post comments and feedback through Blackboard. It is important that you review these comments and feedback after each assignment is returned.

PEER FEEDBACK

Throughout the semester you will receive feedback from your instructor, peers, and Real Readers (described below) on your work: this includes your writing, speaking, listening, peer response, and work during in-class activities. This feedback is meant to help you strengthen your professional communication reflections, responsiveness to feedback on individual assignments, and a final portfolio.

In working with your peers during peer response workshops and activities, personal and sensitive information may on occasion be shared. This information should remain in the classroom and never be shared with others outside of our class. Please

Academic honesty means acting with truthfulness and sincerity in carrying out all aspects of our individual and collaborative work, maintaining ownership over our work and acknowledging our debt to the work of others.

THE WRITING AND SPEAKING CENTER

At the University of Rochester, we all communicate as writers and speakers, and every writer and speaker needs an audience. The Writing and Speaking Center is a free resource available to all members of the University undergraduate students, graduate students, faculty. The Writing and Speaking Center welcomes visitors who are at any stage of the writing process, from brainstorming ideas to polishing a final draft. Similarly, students can visit a Speaking Fellow at any point as they are developing or practicing a presentation. To learn more about the Writing and Speaking Center's services and/ or to find a tutor, please visit http://writing.rochester.edu.
